

Culturama Entertains More Than 200 Visitors With 35 Vendors

At right, Bill Brown of St. Ignace checks for holes that may need to be taped up inside the 110-foot long, 18-foot in diameter geometric cylindrical art project during Culturama Saturday, September 10. The inflatable art project (left) was displayed outside the Little Bear Arena until wind forced its removal. (Photographs courtesy of Darryl Brown)

At right, Bob Fairchild of Goetzville, at Culturama Saturday, September 10, uses an electrical saw to cut into the wood boards, cutting out patterns that will be part of a wooden bench, such as the one his wife, Betty, is sitting on in the above photograph. The Fairchilds make many wood decorations, such as lawn signs, toilet paper holders, and door signs. About 35 vendors and more than 200 people attended Culturama at Little Bear East Arena in St. Ignace.

Churches Taking Up Relief Funds

Catholics at 97 parishes and missions around the Upper Peninsula are raising funds for survivors of Hurricane Katrina and the Diocese of Marquette will send the money to Catholic Charities USA. The funds will be used by local Catholic Charities emergency and long-term disaster recovery efforts.

Office connects the Church's social service agencies and disaster planning offices across the nation.

Bishop James H. Garland asked that a second collection be taken as soon as possible to give parishioners an opportunity to contribute to the relief of those suffering losses as a result of the disaster.

Catholic Charities USA, which has been commissioned by the U.S. Catholic Bishops to represent the Catholic community in times of domestic disaster, responds with emergency and long-term assistance as needed. Its Disaster Response
