The fire north of Newberry is a daily topic around the village this past week. We can see the haze of smoke in the sky, and smell the burning vegetation, depending on the direction of the wind. Personnel and equipment from the local Hudson and Hendricks fire departments have been called to assist in the effort to bring the fire under control.

Thursday we celebrated the life of Lee Quigley with a memorial service at Trinity Lutheran Church in Brevort. A luncheon was served after the service by the Trinity ladies. At 6 p.m. another service was held at the Elks Club in Sault Ste. Marie with the Reverend Herb Agee presiding.

June White has been vacationing at her and Denny's home on Wildwood Lane for two weeks.

Lisa Chalmers is visiting with her parents, Joe and Sharon Chalmers, this week. Also there are Diane Geralt, Andrea Geralt, Victor Geralt, and Diane's friend, Jack. It is Mr. Chalmers' birthday and he received tickets to a Tigers game and a framed picture of the family pet, CoCo Chanel, who passed away some months ago. He said Ms. Chalmers' present was her presence. A lot of golfing and Texas hold-em was on the program for the weekend.

Sally Conklin reports that her visitors this week are Sam and Pat Locricchio of Shelby Township. They were planning a day to Whitefish Point but decided the Soo Locks might be a better choice, owing to the forest fire.

Frank and Mary Lou Hogan are in residence at their condo this week.

Sunday morning found Trinity

Lutheran Church filled to capacity. Dawn Akers mentioned it was wonderful to hear all of the singing voices. We had the pleasure of meeting Bob Skockley of East Lansing during the service. Mr. Shockley is a marathon runner and is burning up the roadsides around the area, keeping his edge.

Bob Flora is preparing with his family this week for their annual summer foray to Brevort. Ann Flora and John Ryan of Tecumseh, Kathy and Larry McGranahan of Iowa City, Iowa, and Maria and Hank Boots of Denver, Colorado, were due in Monday, August 6.

Dan Lasley treated his dad, Larry Lasley, to a trip to Detroit for a pair of Tigers games over the weekend. Unfortunately, the Tigers lost both games.

Andy and Lisa Movolson spent the weekend at the Charlie and Pam Movolson cottage on Lake Michigan. Both are avid fishermen, and Andy was lucky enough to catch a 27-inch, six-pound walleye somewhere on Big Brevort Lake.

Barb and Owen Jorgenson are hoping for a visit from their son, Les Jorgenson, and his wife, Carol, as they recently left Muskegan on their sailboat.

Dave and Charlene Kull and their grandson, David Kull, dropped by for a visit Saturday. The senior Kulls are from Brighton, and have a place here in the village.

Candy Quigley and her husband, Herb Agee, and son, Ross Houle of Englewood, Florida, have been the guests of Joe Stewart and Lorie Quigley in the new house on Shore Road. The family was here for their mother's memorial service.

Mark Spencer, the elder, and Mark Spencer, the younger, attended the National Fur Trappers convention in Goshen, Indiana, over the weekend. On the way home, they stopped at Atwater, Ohio, to pick up Mr. Spencer's grandson, Richard "Toad" Miller. Toad will be spending quality time with his grandparents and great-grandparents, Mark and Barbara Spencer and Mark and Joan Spencer, for a week and a half.

Eric, Kelli, Miss Amanda, and Zach spent a long weekend at the lake house. Amanda and Zach visited Sophia and Drew Laughlin of Annapolis, Maryland. Miss Laughlin was an overnight guest of Amanda Movolson Sunday at the lake house. JoAnne Laughlin and children, Sophia, Drew, and Theo, are vacationing in Brevort this week.

Friends and family gathered at Tom and Joyce Gustafson's deck for a cookout Saturday night. They celebrated what would have been Mother Mildred's 93rd birthday Sunday, August 5. In honor of the occasion, Sharon Smith made Mildred's famous fresh blueberry pies.

John and Pega Kennedy's daughter-in-law, Chrissy Becker, and grandchildren Jacob, Allen, and Danielle, visited with them at the shop. They stayed with Ms. Becker's family in Cheboygan and attended her family reunion Saturday, August 4.

Visitors at the Shepards' last week were Thora's cousin, Bob Quellet, with Marie Lowry and two daughters, Adele and Claire, of Detroit. They visited Tahquamenon Falls and the Soo Locks, had a pontoon boat ride at Trout Lake, and ate Mrs. Kennedy's pasties, which the girls declared the best ever.

After the three-day visit in Brevort, everyone traveled to the home of Thora's other cousin, Albert Mundt and his wife, Rhonda, in Mio to attend the Mennonite World Relief Auction Friday, August 3, and Saturday, August 4. New quilts were the order of the day, the weather was beautiful, and everyone came away with new treasures.

On their return trip, Thora and Jack were Sunday night dinner guests of Anita Dumas, and her brother, John.

The Movolson family held a reunion at their home on Fisherman's Drive Sunday, August 5. We celebrated Zach Movolson's sixth birthday. Celebrants included Tracy Movolson, Dave Movolson Jr., Roy and Marilyn DuMond, Joe and Deb Berry and children Joey and Marilyn, all of Traverse City, Jake Weiss, and Jake and Rebecca Weiss, of Gorman Road, Gloria and Rick Weber of Brevort Lake, Eric and Kelli Movolson, Amanda, and Zach of Howell, Candy Quigley and Herb Agee of Englewood, Florida, Lorie Quigley and Joe Stewart of Fort Meyers, Florida, and Bob Flora of Brevort.

Happy birthday to Carson Yoder August 11, Mark Spencer August 12, Dot Glashaw August 14, Larry Lasley August 15.

Please remember Todd Backus, formerly of St. Ignace and Brevort, in your prayers, as he has had a recurrence of the cancerous tumor in his brain. We can hope for a miracle, but the prognosis is not good. Send cards to Mr. Backus at M.D. Anderson Cancer Center, 1515 Holcombe Boulevard, Houston, Texas 77030.

The rabbits actually made runways in this deep moss.

"One day, while looking at his snares, he ran into a huge buck deer walking on the same moss runway. As he was walking on, he stopped and the buck kept walking toward him. Finally the buck deer stopped, as he saw this man coming toward him. When they were about 20 yards apart, the buck did not know what to do, and Charlie did not know what to do, either! So, for a few seconds, they both stood and looked at each other. Finally, the buck jumped off the moss trail. How do you like that, having a very big buck nearly run over you, when you have no gun?"

An e-mail I received recently from a faithful reader states: "Visit your area several times a year, and read your column in the newspaper. The poppies across from the hardware are beautiful. Several places in town have wonderful displays of beauty. Think the rock garden next to laundromat is a nice addition to the town..." This rock garden is tended faithfully by Vi Ozak, who certainly deserves recognition for her successful efforts. Her work, and that of other local gardeners, does not go unnoticed by our visitors.

The musical "Cinderella" celebrated 19 years of the Les Cheneaux Summer Theater and it certainly brought back that wonderful fairy tale for many of us. Enoch Jacobus as the prince, and Emily Couling as Cinderella, who both have beautiful voices, carried their parts so well. The Murrays as the King and Queen and the Sudol sisters as the mean stepsisters did a great job in their roles. The cast, musicians, directors, and crew deserve another big hand for a job well done. We know how hard they all work to present these summer productions.

The Arts Council is having an exhibition of its members' work at the Cedarville Inn throughout the month of August, and on Sunday, August 26, at the Cedarville Inn there will be a reception honoring the work of the Friends of the Les Cheneaux Arts Council (LCAC). The reception will be from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. and will also showcase the work accomplished during the classes sponsored by the LCAC this year. All are welcome to stop by, have a bit of refreshment, meet the artists, and enjoy the show.

For those who may not be familiar with the Les Cheneaux Arts Council, it is a volunteer organization, newly reorganized and formerly known as the Arts Council of Les Cheneaux. It now operates through the Les Cheneaux Community Foundation and is governed by an advisory board. Objectives are to promote the growth, knowledge, and appreciation of the arts for all age groups in the community, and to sponsor workshops, classes, scholarships, and art shows.

Anyone can help by becoming a "Friend" and giving a donation to the Community Foundation, earmarked for the Les Cheneaux Arts Council. The Council operates only from donations to sponsor scholarships and classes. Those who donate $20 will have a reduced cost for classes and be able to show their work at the next art show.

Now's the time to get some of those old items out of your garages and attics. Les Cheneaux Chamber of Commerce is organizing a community garage sale that will be held Saturday, August 25, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. You can hold a garage sale at your home and get on the map, or rent a space at the parking lot at First Union Church. Register for free by calling the chamber office at 484-3935, or rent a table at the church for $5 if you don't want to do it at your house.

Dick and Bertha Carr won the Lions Club $100 raffle July 31.

Bruce Patrick's story this week is another amusing tale about Charlie Tassier and a big buck deer:

"This was when Charlie Tassier moved from across the channel by Dollar Island to a shanty by Duck Bay. This shanty was originally built by Ed Valley. There was a garden spot beside the cabin, where Charlie grew green beans. He harvested some of them, if he could keep the deer off his garden. He also set snares along the log road that ran through a very deep moss bog.

Mackinaw City Concert Series Continues Sat.

Music in Mackinaw will feature Banjo Picker and Friends Saturday, August 11, at 8 p.m. at Conkling Heritage Park on South Huron Avenue in Mackinaw City. Banjo Picker and Friends is a trio that features folk, country, and bluegrass songs of Michigan.

The summer outdoor concert series is free of charge.

Missionary Pauline Yoder will be a guest speaker at the Naubinway Christian Fellowship church next month. In the countries she ministers to, there is a dire need for many personal items. The Rexton Mennonite Church will have a box for donations which can include travel toiletries, wedding or prom dresses, clothing, shoes, and other items that can be used by someone in the mission field. For more information, call Kathy Miller in Naubinway at (906) 477-8090.

An ATV training class is scheduled for Wednesday, August 15, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Hudson Township Hall, conducted by the Department of Natural Resources. Hudson Township will provide lunch for the participants. A minimum number of participants are needed for the class to be held. Contact Dale Burgess at (906) 440-6134 for more information.

The Sault Ste. Marie Tribe of Chippewa Indians Youth Powwow last Saturday at the Hudson Township Recreation Park was very well attended. It was a pleasure to watch the youngsters and older participants as well as the respectfulness with which they treated all of those in attendance, as well as their surroundings.

Having just concluded a wedding and reception for their daughter, April, and her new husband, Kris, the previous weekend, Mike and Sally Houghton and their youngest son, Andrew, enjoyed a great weekend camping at Garnet Lake. The lake was calm, the sky bright and sunny, and they knew most of the folks driving by, who either waved or stopped by for a brief visit. The comment was heard about what a great weekend it was, and how quickly the summer has passed.

Fitting in a class reunion, birthday celebration, and entertaining out of town guests were Dale and
