The St. Ignace News

Yesterday afternoon while the steamer Ste. Marie was unloading a lot of fish cars at Chambers' dock with a pony and block and tackle, Frederick Colwell, a deck hand, met with a painful accident. He got hold of the wrong line and when the pony started, it was pulled into the block and as he did not let go, his hand went in also, crushing it in a frightful manner. He was immediately taken to Dr. Steinbrecher's office, where the three last fingers of his left hand were amputated. The steamer laid at the dock about three hours, waiting for the injured man to get his wounds dressed and he left again on the boat.

Attorney McNamara and Sheriff Paquin went up the shore this morning on the Remora.

Andrew McKay had the good luck to kill two deer at the head of Little Lake, a mile from town, on Sunday morning.

A number of bad boys amused themselves by firing off a revolver at a telegraph pole on the railway track, back of the postoffice, on Sunday afternoon. Next time we notice them desecrating the Sabbath, we shall publish their names.

Ed. E. Mains of the Wakeman (Ohio) Independent Press, paid this office a visit on Saturday Last. He was on his way home after visiting at the Island a few days and thought that we lived in a fine country for wearing out winter clothing in the fall.

Two men took in the city yesterday and left a sample package of B. T. Babbitt's 1776 washing powder in very house, with printed directions of "an entirely new way of washing clothes in cold water." There was no kickers, and each housekeeper
